MATSUO CASTLE RUINS

Matsuojo-ato, Koishiwara, Toho-mura, Asakura-gun, Fukuoka

松尾城跡

- The stone foundational ruins of Matsuo Castle sit atop a hill nestled in the mountains of Koishiwara with a direct line-of-sight view to the peaks on Hikosan. With more than a thousand years of history, the original castle was taken down in 1615 under the One Castle One Country" edict issued by Ieyasu Tokugawa.
- A perfect location for various outdoor scenes like battles, tented shogun encampment, etc... surrounded by tall cedar trees that give the site an expansive feel on camera, while being accessible by a short 5 min hike through a cedar forest from the parking area below.
- The upper level is a flat space with a 20 x 40m stone wall perimeter that sits atop the second level which is 25 x 30m. The stone rim of the top level is approximately 1.5 meters high, with the rim of the 2nd level about 4m high. There is a stone entryway located at the south edge of the ruins.
- The castle location sits in the historic town of Koishiwara, with filming locations such as Gyoja-Sugi, Iwaya Jinja and all the multitude of Hikosan locations all within 30 minutes. Props, background and principle actors, armor, swords, authentic wardrobe, food services and accommodations with a central production hub are all available locally. This site is not located within a major air traffic zone so sound intrusions are minimal.
